22 August 1961

Mr. Allen W. Dulles
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

I should like to express my appreciation for the recent training given to Master Sergeant Paul Hornback and Staff Sergeant Bobby C. Lishman, U. S. Army, instructors of the Army Intelligence School, by the Technical Services Division of the Central Intelligence Agency. Both men benefited measurably from the training received and were particularly impressed by the consideration shown to them by members of the Technical Services Division staff.

I am certain that you share my belief that this type of technical cross-training improves the individual competence of the instructors concerned as well as enhancing the overall training provided by the United States Army Intelligence School.

Please convey my special appreciation to Mr. [redacted], the [redacted], who arranged the details of [redacted] training and saw to the personal comfort of the men; [redacted], [redacted], who briefed the men on [redacted] their assignment, and to [redacted] the instructor, whose patience, clarity of presentation, and consideration was, in the final analysis, responsible for the successful accomplishment of the training.
